

James Taylor Mud Slide Slim And The Blue Horizon On 180g Vinyl LP Remastered from the Original Master Tapes

For the follow up to his classic Sweet Baby James, archetypal sensitive singer-songwriter-guitar player James Taylor wisely elected not to stray too far from the approach that had worked so well on his previous album. One of the most memorable tunes here, "Hey Mister That's Me Up On The Jukebox" is one of the more effective songs to bemoan the plight of the lonely balladeer, evidence that James Taylor was a pioneer of the introspective troubadour style. "You've Got a Friend," "Highway Song," "Riding On a Railroad," and the touchingly beautiful "You Can Close Your Eyes" are all highlights of this magical album.

Warner Brothers went back to the original analog tapes and had this record cut by Steve Hoffman and Kevin Grey for this RTI pressed release and we can tell you that after hearing the test-pressings... You Cannot Find a Better Copy of Mud Slide Slim And The Blue Horizon ANYWHERE!
